

January 23, 2018

Dear Friend,

Since 2000, Susan Hershberg and her Wiltshire Pantry have hosted the We the People dinner to raise crucial funds to support the important work of the Fairness Campaign and the ACLU of Kentucky. Both organizations work tirelessly to make Kentucky a more inclusive place - one that values all people - and our work has never been more important than right now.

The Fairness Campaign has continued to stop anti-LGBTQ attacks in the Kentucky General Assembly and has expanded outreach statewide with new pride festivals in Bowling Green and Frankfort. The ACLU of Kentucky continues to defend reproductive freedom in the Commonwealth, challenging the unconstitutional ultrasound bill passed in 2017 and fighting to keep open the EMW clinic, Kentucky's last abortion facility. Together, the ACLU of Kentucky and Fairness Campaign have helped build the Kentucky Competitive Workforce Coalition, a group of more than 200 employers leading the charge in Frankfort against North Carolina-style anti-LGBTQ laws.

The 2018 We the People dinner will be held on March 24th, once again at The Speed Art Museum. At last year's event over 500 guests enjoyed a lively evening of cocktails and fine dining against the backdrop of the stunningly renovated museum. We expect another sold-out crowd for 2018!

We hope you will sponsor our We the People dinner to help advance our work and underwrite the cost of the event. There are a number of sponsorship levels from which you can choose. You may also purchase individual tickets for $175 each or tables of 10 for $1,500. You will receive a formal invitation to the dinner in mid-February.

Thank you for your continued commitment to our organizations. We will follow up with you over the next few weeks to answer any questions that you might have about the dinner or sponsorship packages. We look forward to seeing you there!

Sincerely,
